

2009 – The Master Year of Creation

Nothing has to be the same. Nothing.

Can you feel the freedom that this thought gives you?

In 2009, we have the opportunity to release the ways we once enjoyed life but which now feel more like obligations. When one accepts the role of mastery, they also accept that they can live their lives their way. Each of you was once taught the style of handwriting called cursive writing. Over the years, as you became more proficient in handwriting, the formation of the letters became more personal and less true to what you were taught. You made the knowledge your own.

So it is with the way you live your life – you have the freedom to do it in your own fashion, according to your own instincts. When a tradition loses its joy, it is saying to you, “Let me go.”

Every experience, situation, or belief you have wants to be a benefit to you; a gift, an encouragement, a healing and when it no longer serves you, it wants the freedom to go with ease and grace. Any of those experiences or circumstances you judge to be negative are only trying to tell you there is a miscommunication here – a misunderstanding, a lack of love.

This is a year of being a Master. And a Master lives life with an open hand neither judging results nor withholding love. A Master can be extravagant in sharing the qualities and abilities s/he has mastered; a Master can be generous without the need to be acknowledged, yet accepting appreciation when it is offered.

A Master living a year such as this one, takes advantage of the energies to polish the matters in which his/her mastery lies while being open to new experiences, new modalities, and new opportunities to extend mastery.

2009 opens us to daring to be different – if you could imagine yourself different than you were yesterday, last week or last year, what would that look and feel like?

2009 gives us vibratory permission to let go of who we once were so who we want to become can be born. Who would you be if you acted on this permission?

Pygmalion once created a statue that was so beautiful he fell hopelessly in love with it. Pining away, he pleaded with the gods to bring her to life so he could love her fully. His petition was answered and they lived a great love.

You are the Pygmalion – the creator – of your own beautiful work of art but you are the only one who can bring that work of art to life.

Will you give life to the Wonderful One only you can be? – That is what this year challenges and invites you to do...
