

On March 18, 2004, this first of the four-part Angelic Alchemy series was held. The angelic presence who brought this first message was identified to me as Hamied of the Seraphim. In her book “Angel Blessings,” Kimberley Marooney says this:

Hamied is the glorious angel of miracles. He is such a dazzling white that you can only see his eyes shining through. As you feel his presence enfold you, open your heart to receive his gift of intense love. Hamied carries the presence of the Christ Light. Hamied watches over you waiting for opportunities to create a miracle in your life. His mission is to spark the memory of your divinity through his example.

This is an excerpt from Hamied’s message. For a complete transcription, contact Michel at veiledmoon@shaw.ca

 Dear and Glorious
From the Everlasting, the All-Mighty, The End before the Beginning and the Beginning without End,
Love Everlasting,
I bring Greetings

 Let it be known that each of you has a sphere of influence that is vast, as you comprehend it. The energy radiating from you touches individuals without your knowing. This energy, this confidence or worry, this vibration often identified as auric field and yet going well beyond that minimalist expression, this energy when you are in your power, when you are in your confidence, when you fill yourself with the God-Love, is big enough from each of you to fill the structure known as City Centre and thereby you touch each individual – consider the number that can be influenced for Love’s sake. And when you extend your energy through the tools such as the telephone, the Internet, written word, spoken word, feelings – feelings deeply felt are powerfully radiated, pounded, spread forth – and your influence goes with it. How will you influence the heart of the human? I come to speak to you about miracles. You have been told many times – for many of you, it is still an intellectual understanding – that you yourself are a miracle.

Miracles flow from you.

Be very clear – God is not out there. Never has been. The product of His Love and His Curiosity and His De-Light and Joy in All That Is – that is out there. The Source is in here – in each individual, each cell, each inner presence the All That Is One is there. And as you conceive of a thought and send it outward from you, you see the product of the thought there. This is the product of a thought but it did not start out here. And so I say to you that the Oneness That Is All is here within. And all the vastness of their conception, all the understanding, all the Love, all the ability to make miracles is there. There is nothing that you need to learn other than what you have learned.

It is a matter of allowing an expression. Miracles happen in conformation with Law, as it is known here. It does not seem like it. This realm – this space – this dimension is a great gift for it allows you to learn the process from conception to manifestation.

And the first step is to give up, release, relinquish, set aside behind where you cannot see under a cup, is the word, “but”. You know this. It is the single most potent tool you have for denying your creativity, your majesty, the expression of the God Within each of you. You say this is what

I desire. You have had the thought, you are working on desire and then you put in “but” and the dominoes all fall back...

For a miracle to happen, you must step out of that. Become so excited, so impassioned, so inflamed, so inspired with accepting your desire, that it is there in front of you.

Now. Of course, there are those who experience doubt. It is in this realm of slowness, often a difficult habit to release and relinquish. But it is a habit; it is not a law. And as you once had the habit of writing – very large and very slowly with a pencil – and that became familiar and that became comfortable, so now you have changed your habit.

And doubt is only a habit.

It is a matter of living consciously. Every moment focussing on living the life you were meant to live.

The Divine, the Wondrousness within you aches at times to be let out. And you have the freedom to let it go. You cannot lose it. You cannot give so much of the God-Love within you that there is none left with you for it is All-Supply. It is always there awaiting opportunity. There is beautiful information moving forward on the planet. Speaking of the Law of Attraction and I say to you that the Law of Attraction, indeed, yes – a Law, a spiritual universal Law – operates from within you. And your vibrations, your desire, your lovingness, your higher purpose, your desire to benefit, your service, your joy are the attracting elements.

Miracles happen at times laughs – when your agreement with society is diverted and we are able to slip in – and there it is. Miracles happen sometimes when it seems that you least expect them, but that is only the logical mind that has not expected, for you must know that the Soul, the wonder-full, beauty-full, infinity loving part of yourself always expects miracles – because it is itself is made from a miracle – even as you are.

How do miracles happen? Miracles happen through passion, through great Love, deep Love, breathtaking Love, all enveloping Love. It is not about the brain. It is not about the logical mind; it is not even about the physical feeling. It is about breathing every moment – exhaling Love, and then aaaaah being it brightly, beautifully, powerfully within you. Opening this up. Opening. Opening. Opening.

 The deepest struggle in your life is the greatest opportunity for you to create a miracle. What would you create? What would you do?

Examine the place where you find the most challenge. This is the place where you need to send Love more. A Master Teacher has taught you: Love is All There Is. Through the Love of you as a Soul, miracles come into your life. As a co-creator, as a director of creative energy, you are the empowering source for creating miracles – for yourself, for others, for because it is Tuesday – whether it is not, matters not – miracles happen because you work with the energy, you choose and you allow them. Miracles happen because you are diverted at times and it gives us the opportunity. Miracles happen because they are supposed to happen. It is why you are here.

The saddest miracle is the one that is held back, limited, and not allowed expression. Miracles waiting within you that you do not allow bring a sadness that reverberates throughout the Universe and your energy is diminished and the world energy is diminished. We would excite you; we would inspire you; we would encourage you most strongly please allow yourself to be miracle-makers. It is who you are. Each of you having returned at this point in the life-cycle of the planet are here to create, to assist in the creation, to make manifest the world as it could be.

There are only two way of happening, of encouraging this. The first one is to dedicate the life and make every step a step that you do with love. And if you cannot be whole-heartedly, joyously in Love with everything that you do, it is time at that point to say, 'this is not the thing I would love, what would I love?' And if that is not immediately possible according to your understanding and your willingness to stretch your limit as far as you may, then practise stretching the limit a little more.

I remind you those who say, 'The sky is the limit,' have a limited imagination.

The other way of evolving your Self and the world is attracting to you everything that you need to make it happen. The first is Service: because of Love, through Love, with Love, by Love, and for Love. And the second is attracting the tools to you that you may move into this state: and I say that gathered around you are Angelic Forces so vast that you would be unstoppable if you choose to allow the miracle to happen. There are places on this planet where beings suffer the repercussions of wars and savagery against each other. You – right here, without moving a muscle – can start the miracles that erase this.

The planet evolves slowly. You have the opportunity; you have the ability. Have you the desire to create life not only for yourself but for all that you meet? — For life to be as it could be – for life to be filled with joyousness. Your angelic Guides and Guardians stand ready and I too stand ready. It is your willingness that determines how far we go from here.

I applaud you. I send my Joy, my great Love to each of you. Look to experience a moment of deep, heart-felt Love and know that it is but the touch, the very slightest touch of what we would offer you at every moment in your Journey.

Watch for the miracles that you might recognize them.

The Divine Love of the Most High, the Ever-lasting All is yours.

Hamied of the Seraphim
