

I AM The Sacred Fire of My Passion

Dear Beloved,

We are very excited that the courage of your conviction to expand your understanding and your role and your experience in Life has brought you to this time and this place.

We wish, first of all, to address the theme energy of this talk. In part it relates to base chakra understanding. It is about the beginning, the beginning of your existence. And why did you come into existence?

Because you were loved into existence. Because each of you was held to be sacred...

The Greater I AM in Its dedication to expanding Its experience of Itself, like sparks cast each of you off and named you after Itself. And so each of you can conceive of being I AM, because the Divine is you. Because of that, my Loves, you are, indeed, sacred in and of yourselves.

When the Spirit that moved to create you, took it upon itself to expand there was passion involved. There was honour, love and great inspiration and all of these are components of the Sacred. At every moment, when you behave with honour, when you bring in the vibration of Love, when you are inspired to go beyond the limits that you have created for yourself, you are behaving in a manner that is Sacred. And we encourage more of the same within you.

We have identified this as a fire and it is, indeed, a fire. It rises as the energy of the kundalini rises from the base, the foundation, within you through all of your vibrational spaces to reach the Divine and yet the Divine is also within you. It is a concept that can be difficult for the limitations of the three-dimensional mind but you have said the Divine is omni-present - present everywhere - and so it is true. The fire, the inspiration, resides within you. It is, in some small degree, what gets you out of bed in the morning. It is, in some small degree, what causes you to look at the limitations that you have in your life and say, "I am more than this. I can surmount it. I can move beyond it."

I remind you that a limit is there to give you some space in which to learn, but like a child in a playpen, you are not condemned to be there forever. It is there as a temporary measure until you have learned what you can in that space, until you have grown, until you have matured, until you say to yourself, "I'm ready to climb out of this. I'm ready to go beyond. I'm ready to see more and do more and feel more and be more. I AM ready to ground more experience, more understanding, more delight of the Light into my experience."

When you make your connection with the Divine, Wonderful Ones, we would remind you that, as you bring the iridescent White Light of the Holy Spirit into the Self, bring it fully to the root chakra and from there, let it pause, let it fill you and then move it downward through the rest of the physical body into the physical presence of the Planet herself and go deep to that centre and touch the Mother as you have touched the Father - symbolically, of course. Then accept the Love that is there and bring that upward to the root chakra and allow that vibration to pause, to hold and to spread outward and fill you and then move upward to touch the Divine. And at that point linked vibratorily, energetically, ener-genetically through your genetic structure, through the energy pattern that you are, by the conduit of the chakra vibrational system, you are connected energy to matter, spirit to physical, inner realm to outer realm, the All to the One.

At that point, then begin your work, begin your movement into the sacredness of your Life.

We are talking of energy by bringing it, not to here [the head]; not to here [the throat], not even to here [the heart] but fully into the vessel that you are and through that conduit into the planet herself. She needs nourishing and I promise you, my Dear Hearts, as you are spiritual beings so too is the Planet.

Her greatest gift is to step deeply into the physical realm to provide a platform, an arena, a foundation, a school on which each of you can evolve, can live, can learn, can grow, can become more, can become less - but nonetheless, she is a spiritual being and knows what it is that you seek and knows why it is that you have come here. Her infinite great Love is as full, as rich, as all-encompassing, as present in the beginning that never began as that of the Divine that is called the Father or the God - she is the counterpart, she is the balance point.

In this time of the world and in this part of the world, there are times when she is the de-valued. She is the less and the looked-down-upon. That is to be changed and you are the change agents. You are in deed.

Change has already begun. Twenty-nine years ago, the change began when the Planet of Healing was identified and that is Chiron. Chiron starts in a diminished energy and Chiron starts acknowledging the wounds that all souls herein bear and knows that no longer can those wounds be left unhealed. Chiron was the Wounded Healer; some of you are aware of this and yet Chiron himself at his own request was taken into the sky, the symbol for evolution, and his pain and his woundedness were released that he might stand forth and again

Be an inspiration,

Be a mentor,

Be a leader,

Be a guide for the Sons of Man

in taking their step into their own leadership;

in taking their steps in accepting a role beyond their small self,

beyond their fear,

beyond the wounds that keep them from having to do too much,

beyond the wounds that keep them in that playpen.

Because Chiron became healed and it is time for the race of the Human to let go of their wounds, rather than scabbing them over and then picking at the scabs to see, "Are you healed yet? Are you festering yet? Look what's happened to me."

To allow from the inside out, the healing to go and to grow so that all those scabs that have been scarring the sight, that have been scarring the ability to move forward with flexibility, that have been scarring the heart and preventing the radiance of Love: the radiance of Divine Love which you do not have to learn, you only have to let loose; and all will be very well.

I congratulate you on your courage and I promise you that as you move forward over the course of your days and over the course of your months and years, and the need for greater courage becomes apparent, it will be there. Not only will it be there, it is pushing at the doorway into your presence and only needs you to touch the handle and it bursts in to fill you, to burn brightly within you, to shine Joy-fully in every iota of your being so that you can radiate its delights and your delight.

Your courage comes from your heart and yet we speak of it here as a foundational energy. What you have learned of the chakra energy centres is now to be re-aligned. Take the vibration, the loving-ness, and move that vibration into your foundation. Stand on that Love and know that it is there more solidly and more clearly than any concept you have ever experienced before.

You might not be on your side from time to time but the Love that is given to you,

The Love that is part of you,

The Love that is breathed in by you,

The Love that is breathed out by you,

The Love that inhabits every cell, every fibre, every muscle, every bone within you,

Is there for you.

And then we come to Passion and it is passion that inspired the Love of the Divine for Itself to know Itself more fully, to become more than what It was. Curiosity had a part in that passion, yes, but curiosity alone will not produce so great a work as you are, as each of you are, as this is and this physical realm is only a small part of the Passion of the Divine, of the Passion of the One, of the Passion of the All That Is.

Passion created you when you were created by the Passion of the Divine and passion re-created you when you entered the physical realm. Passion inspires your next breath. Every breath that you take is for now, yes, and your future. For as you breathe in, you bring your future toward you and as you breathe out, you step into that future.

Passion keeps your heart beating. Passion colours your world and your experience with a vibrancy and a dynamic that at times you can only look at in meditation in awe and in beauty and in love and wish that you could capture it enough to put it on a paper. But Passion is much more than physical. You cannot capture its entire essence but you can try and the excitement of that passion keeps you trying because around the next corner or on the next painting or on the next page or with the next step, with the next person that you meet, the passion is enriched. The Passion moves toward you.

In the past, before the discovery of the planet, Pluto, the vibrational essence of Scorpio was governed by Mars and there has been an evolution and there has been a change and so we have Mars ruling Aries: Mars is taking action. Mars is red and it is fiery and it is passionate! And all your new beginnings are passionate or they fitter away. They mean little. If you start something with a ‘Sigh.  Here-I-go-again’ attitude, you will not continue long and you will live in a gray world, but when you start something with excitement, with passion, with a fire to move into that, then things can indeed move and change and glow and brighten and encourage - bringing the heart in again, My Loves - and support those dreams that you have.

If there is no Passion at the beginning of who you are, why take the next step? Why move onward? Why move upward?

There is a new dynamic occurring here. We are saying that those on the spiritual path who choose to walk away from the Victim archetype must go beyond walking away. It is no longer appropriate, Dear Hearts, to say ‘I release myself from being a victim. I had an occurrence happen to me and it caused me anger and it caused me frustration and now it sits within me and it causes resentment.’

It is now time to transform the whole situation.

We share with you the story of an individual who made plans for a metaphysical seminar event where there were individuals to come who had wares and there were individuals to come who had services and there were speakers. She had made arrangements for a location.

The next day when she went to pay for the location, she was told somewhat brusquely that she could not have the location after all. There had been information in two places but the individual she dealt with had checked only one and the one was lacking. Though there was some small effort to assist her in finding another place, that effort was minimal. She, herself, went round and round and round to find another place, it was not to be so.

She was angry and she was disconcerted. She pointed her anger at herself, “Maybe I misunderstood. Did Archangel Michael say this was the good date? What occurred here? Why did he agree?” and she listened and she had not misunderstood.

What is it she did not understand? What is it she needed to do?

She said, “I do not understand the reason but I will not be upset any longer. Yes, it has cost me time in designing advertising. Yes, it has cost me time and money in paying for and distributing advertising that I now have the embarrassment of having to go to other people and say ‘This is not occurring and I do not know why.’ ”

And I say to you, Wonderful Ones, when this was planned in November information was sent out over the internet at that time. However, a very good friend received the information in February, 2005. And she said, "Is it on again? What is happening?"

The woman said, "I do not understand. I have cleared myself. I have even come to the point where I could laugh at myself. I have put my energy aside..."

And then I say to her, "You have done for yourself. What have you done for the business that failed in its service? And what have you done for the next person who deals with the same situation?"

She said, "I thought about writing but I just wanted to be rid of it all and so I decided I would not cause a problem. The woman who was so rude to me is the supervisor there."

Yet, of course, there is another to whom she reports.

And so she has learned that it is not enough to experience being victimized and release the self alone from the situation. It is required that she become passionate about it and say "This is wrong! This is inappropriate. These are the repercussions that were caused by that misbehaviour, by that inappropriate action and you as service providers need to know that this is happening. And, furthermore, this is my recommendation on how you can make this system work better. I am not asking for compensation; I am trying to help you out to perform better service and I am trying to prevent a victimization of the next individual, whether or not that next individual is me."

We are saying it is time to open your self to the opposite vibration of The Victim. You have victim experiences so you can become your own Guardian of your Self Esteem. Not so that you can point fingers at yourself; not so that you can go into a situation where you allow someone else to run roughshod over you and then blame yourself, but so that you can say,

I'm worth more than this. I value myself enough to say – quietly, but clearly: "This is inappropriate. This is ineffective. Those of us who cherish ourselves, who value ourselves, who know that we ourselves are worthy of respect, we do not accept this as part of our life experience and so we will teach you how we wish to be treated. We do it in thus-and-so manner. We do it by quietly saying 'This is what occurred and this is what we would have preferred to occur.' Now the ball is in your court, you have a new level of awareness. Now play the game."

This is why we say we commend to you your courage. It takes a great-hearted individual to go into a situation where there has been a problem – to take that risk of being laughed at, of being ignored, of being looked down upon, of not being believed – and say:

This is the truth of the matter as I perceive it. What you do with it once I give it to you is up to you, but I will not abdicate my responsibility to the whole-ness of the situation by withdrawing, by diminishing, by moving back, for my world is expanding. My world is becoming more and I will have the freedom to move forward toward you in confidence knowing that you and I clearly understand the way that peers, the way that individuals of equal respect behave between each other.

I will no longer lie down. I will no longer crawl away in a corner but I will not hit you back either.

And this is what is being required:

It is not spiritual to lie down or crawl away when you have been kicked. It leaves the bully standing there to kick another.

It is not spiritual to get up there and go and pound that bully. It only inspires within the bully to go and find someone else who won't hit back and you know, my Loves, that hitting back only escalates the war.

It is spiritual to stand up for the right;

It is spiritual to stand up for what is just.

It is spiritual to say,

I value myself. I would like to respect you. I offer you my respect. Join me. Demonstrate to me that together we can make this work better than it did in the first place – better than it did for me; better than it did for you.

You cannot do that if there is no passion in your heart. You cannot create – and this is about creativity. Base chakra, my Loves, is about abundance. This [heart chakra] is where abundance generates into the world but in the base chakra it is created. It is created because of desire. It is not created out of “yeah – whatever...”

All new beginnings, all brightness in the world, all fire – with its joy, with its exuberance, with its dance, with its passion, with its flare, with its inspiration, with the dreams that it has within it that entice you and inspire you and draw you out of yourself into dancing with it, into creating with it – all of this occurs because of the passion with which you were created. You were created out of a passion to know more and experience more and have more and be more and that is why it is so relevant for you: that is why it is so important for you to go beyond – to knock down those playpen walls and to run down that hallway and see what’s in that door and what’s in that door and what’s in that door. To go through that open door into a wider world – because the originating thought that created you was doing exactly that. Ener-genetically that is who you are.

If it were not so, you would never go beyond being one cell.

If it were not so, the race would never have gotten out of the cave.

If it were not so, individuals would not be looking for ways of harmonizing and living on and participating with the Planet that is life enhancing for all involved, herself included.

We are not talking about mere accumulation. We are talking about expanding and extrapolating. We are talking about exploration – internal and external. We are talking about the joy of a heart that beats with great courage. We are talking about a multi-coloured, many flavoured – every flavoured life. And this is where it all begins.

When you say, “I AM” know that that statement aligns you with the Divine within and the Divine without. When you write I AM put it in capital letters to demonstrate the importance that that has.

I AM – is complete. And it is open-ended. When you say, “I AM.” It is a complete statement but it is also open-ended for I AM is the creative statement as well.

I AM what I choose to be.

I AM excited.

I AM moving forward.

I AM loving every breath, every moment, every sparkle, every laugh in my Life.

I AM the one in the All.

I AM all of the One.
