

The Three C's for Making "Cents"

This article was channelled from Archangel Michael in 2005 and is still very relevant today. We hope this information benefits and guides you to find more sense and more cents in your Life's experience. Blessings from both of us...

“Dear and De-Light full Beings of Abundant Life, how greatly I desire to lead you into the experience and manifestation of richness as you journey in the physical way... to make ‘cents’ in your life - daily and abundantly, with serene regularity.

“In order to most greatly enhance your receivings, it is necessary to prepare for and participate with the energy that some have named Prosperity, others Abundance or Affluence. In reality, De-Light-full Ones, it is expressing your True Nature. To this end, I remind you that when you are aware of your true nature, you are clear on Who You Are as One with Divinity. When you are clear of yourself as a co-Creator with Divinity, you can be clear on how and what you desire to create in your experiences of Life; thus the first “C” is

Clarity

“When you are very clear on what you desire in your Life, it is much easier for Divinity to lay that in your path. When you have decided you ‘want’ a certain thing or situation, you are identifying with the ‘lack’ of it and holding yourself away from your receiving.

“It is of great importance, therefore, to examine those circumstances, items and/or people that you believe you desire – to daydream or imagine the impact of that presence in your life – to make such defining adjustments to your original imagining as are necessary until you are comfortably clear about the specific desire. When you can express your desire easily and briefly with complete Clarity, you have achieved the first part of the manifestation process.

“The next ‘C’ that makes ‘cents’ is to perform your prosperity or abundance creating practices regularly – daily and with on-going

Consistency

“If you work with prayer which is emotion-based or affirmations which are thought-based or savings/investment practices which are physically based, the most vital part of any of these practices is the Consistency, the regularity with which you dedicate and re-dedicate yourself to the concept of prosperity. Divinity can only understand that prosperity is important to you if you give it importance in your daily routines.

“Lip service to abundance is the practice of performing the patterns of prosperity thought and behaviour that you know, mainly when you believe you are in [dire] need. However, Divinity takes your depth of desire for prosperity according to the importance you give it in your circumstances – moment by moment. If you only focus on prosperity when you feel a great and occasional need, Divinity perceives this to be of less importance than that which gets regular attention from you. Watch your thoughts – if you are thinking of ‘wanting’ and ‘lacking’ and ‘needing’, you are telling Divinity to bring you more of that; when you think, feel and act on your receiving, Divinity understands a difference in desire and brings you more of that.

“As you imagine feeling affluent many times during the day, you are synchronizing your emotional state with affluence;

“As you repeat in thought or verbalizing abundance affirmations at regular intervals during your day, you are aligning your thoughts with the thought vibrations of abundance;

“As you follow the bookkeeping and prosperity principles of writing down and acknowledging the flow of money energy in your life daily, you are physically patterning the movement of prosperity and grounding it in to your life’s expression.

“The third ‘C’ that encourages Prosperity is

Calm

“When you are desperate for more of any thing, be it a relating, activity, item, circumstance or currency, you are expressing a hardness of energy, a pushing or forcing. It is this very intensity that holds distant from you that very condition. The more you concentrate – which itself is an energy of effort and striving – the more dense your fields become and the more slowly your receivings are.

“As you begin to feel a building of tension – breathe to open the calm, faith-full heart of Divinity Within. Breathe deeply, sighing your tension outward from your presence. Breathe slowly allowing Calm to fill the spaces in the body from whence tension has departed.

“It is only when you are Calm that prosperity/abundance/affluence can make its way into your manifesting. And Calm comes from having a greater faith in Divinity to take care of you, than having ‘faith’ in you to fail at the attempt to take care of yourself. Bring back into your knowing that Divinity greatly desires your lavish receivings and calmly allow.”
