

In the Name of Love, indeed!

Dearlly Beloved, I bring you glad tidings from the Heart Vibration and Sheltering Spaces of the Most High, the Divine All That Is.

This message might be called a love letter for, indeed, its purpose is to first of all remind you to make fresh again in your heart and mind that you are the Cherished One of the Most High. There cannot be any means by which you diminish, deflect or make yourself undeserving of this Love. Even should you refuse it, yet it is there surrounding you, cherishing you, patiently awaiting your acceptance.

Be, therefore, I say, filled with Great Joy. Allow yourself the relief of knowing that Someone truly cares for and about you. And when you realize that that Someone also knows every thought, word or deed, done or not done, in your Life and yet loves you with the fullness of that awe-inspiring Mighty Heart - steadfastly, encouragingly, gently and without an instant's failing or faltering - without so much as an iota of a nanosecond's hesitation, how great a Love can that be?

Beloved Ones, it is more important for you to know that this Love is ever yours, that you cannot in truth be separated from it, for it resides deep within your Essential Self, your Essence, Your Soul. With every in-breath you activate this Love, bringing the inspiration of Life into that loving centre of who you are and with every out-breath, you have the opportunity to express that same loving vibrational essence.

Know above all, my Loves, that you are the extension of the Love of the Most High. As that Being is identified as the I AM, even as the I AM THAT I AM, so too are you a part of this Creator Essence. As you are able to conceive of being your own I Am: — as you identify yourself in your various roles, practises and qualities being expressed in Life, you are identifying yourself by saying “I Am ...” you claim not only a relationship but you align yourself with the Divine I AM. You open yourself to that higher vibration to the degree that you qualify the statement: “I Am ...” That is to say, as you claim, “I Am a Beloved Child of the Most High and I Am supported lovingly and affluently in all ways”, you align yourself with the energies of “Beloved” and of “Affluence” in the Divine manner — please do be aware — not only in the physical realm expression.

However, as you utter the claim, “I am so stupid”, you align yourself with a depleted and much slower, less uplifting vibration. This latter serves little to raise you and your Life expression to the quality that the Most High has in mind for you.

*The Universal Awareness That Is the Divine has dreams for you — that you express your Life through your highest potential, that those dreams, visions and deepest wishes of your Heart and Soul be accomplished. Indeed, the Most High has plans and dreams for you, but in this realm of freedom of will, the dreams and visions you have for yourself take precedence. The gift in this is that you are allowed, supported and able to make manifest your own visions of your Life. But be full of care at this point, Dearest Creator Beings, for it is an absolute truism that what you wish for, you will get.*

And it is so in this manner...

Contrary to what your perception may be, you do not live in a physical realm, you live in an energy realm, expressing on a denser, more slow state in order that you may learn the creative process: the workings from Thought – having an idea of something – to Aligning with the thought, that is loving the idea enough that it becomes an ideal, a goal to be sought after – then through the period of Gestation that is unique to the denser arenas, that period of time wherein you either support the creation of your ideal or you fracture your focus, defray your energy; you are given the opportunity to support or deny your result – and then on to the making real in your world experience, to the Manifestation of your idea.

Was it successful? Did it occur as you had originally envisioned it? Perhaps. And perhaps not. The greatest learning here is two-fold: that of learning to clearly objectify the result you want, to work steadfastly to set it in motion with your thought-into-form process and then; the second part is to step out of the way and let the Most High work with and through you to create it as visualized. In other words, get out of the way and let it happen.

We are speaking of a process similar to that of a child being in the womb. The wise and loving mother does not oversee every little detail of the baby's creation. She realizes and allows that the Divine, thought the nature of her bodily patterns will create an environment to bring into form another perfect creation. All the loving mother does is take care of her own health in order to support the child's environment and she sends thoughts of Love, Joy and Welcome to the unborn child and prepares for the manifestation into Life of her new Beloved. So too must you when in your own creative process.

To summarize, in being full of care for what and how you wish to manifest in your world, it is important to have a clear vision of what you desire and it is important to allow the time, space and respect for the Ability and Great Delight of the Most High to bring to you that which you wish to receive. When you constantly watch the clock to see "When?" and tug on the Lord's coat sleeve or look over the shoulder of the Universal Awareness to see "Are You done yet?", you give the indication that you can perhaps do better or, more importantly, that you have not released the situation into the Hands of the Most High, that you still wish to have control over the situation. In that case, my Loves, we assure you that it will indeed be given back to you for your own completion!

In many ways, it is a matter of moving beyond a belief that you can trust in God, Goddess, All That Is and reaching the calm, secure, receptive and joy-filled state that you know you can trust this Divine One. To know this in your heart, to realize this with every breath, every smile, every sigh. To know it as surely as you know that when you breathe your Life energy in, you will support, nourish and manifest Life energy to every muscle, bone and cell in your body – and without having to be engaged in the controlling activity of cataloguing each individual cell of your body to do so! This is the degree of trust in the Most High to cherish you abundantly and to shower riches upon you unceasingly, of which we speak.

We recommend most highly that you align yourself with the wondrous dreams that the Most High has for you, seeking through your freedom to use your will, the blessings and bounty that are, indeed, yours by Divine Right. The only one who keeps your good from you is you; for in effect, it lies in a puddle at your feet having rained upon you in drops of sunshine and laughter. Open yourself to alignment to your Highest Good through acceptance of the Most High's Highest Good for you. Truly His desire for You, His Precious Child, is vastly more heart uplifting and rapturous and bright than yours is for yourself.

Remember, my Loves, that you are dearly loved...

*Michael
Archangel of the Divine Host*

This message was channelled in Joy from the Archangel Michael through his Channel, Michel Green, on October 21, 2003 in Edmonton Canada in order to serve the Higher Purpose of the Light of Life, the Most High, God, Goddess All That Is.